

Save Money. Every Site. Every Time.

True site optimization has eluded land developers and engineers for years. With Manhard Consulting, site optimization is a reality. We utilize revolutionary land development software that combines powerful layout, grading and piping tools with the ability to generate cost optimized design. As a SITEOPS Certified Partner, we are able to quickly analyze millions to billions of variations in grading, paving and piping so that our clients can accurately see how design changes affect construction budget numbers. We provide the freedom to try different building locations, pond locations, parking lot slopes, drive entrance slopes, landscape slopes, and more. By evaluating the “what if” scenarios, our clients are able to achieve even greater project cost savings than ever before possible.

Manhard's use of SITEOPS software allows us to go far beyond ordinary CAD software, systematically considering every design possibility within defined user constraints, while always optimizing overall cost.
