

Flexible Solutions for Compliance

Municipal officials today face trying times. Citizens demand increased public services but resist higher taxes and user charges. Federal and state governments are mandating stricter guidelines for operating water and wastewater facilities which pose major compliance challenges. Outsourcing the Operations and Maintenance (O & M) of your community's facilities to Manhard Consulting allows you to focus on the other demands of your community while our team works to protect your valuable capital assets.

By partnering with Manhard, you gain access to an experienced team that understands the increasing complexity of operating your water and wastewater facilities. With a program tailored to your needs, our O & M team can assume responsibility for the day-to-day operations and maintenance of your water and wastewater facilities.

The end result: your community can reduce and control operating costs, better manage compliance, maintain or enhance service levels, improve plant appearance, provide a single point of accountability and increase the overall satisfaction of your citizens.

Outsourcing the Operations and Maintenance of your water and wastewater facilities, your valuable capital assets, is the right choice for communities dealing with compliance issues, operating accountability and personnel concerns. Manhard Consulting can custom-tailor our services to meet your requirements.
